

STRENUOUS WORK
FOR THE VARSITYCoach Cooke Puts Men Through Hard Practice on Gridiron.

INDIVIDUAL INSTRUCTION

Much Time Devoted to Drilling Players in Fine Points of the Game.

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va., November 10.—Coach Cooke and his assistants put the Virginia squad through another strenuous practice of three hours this afternoon, and it was dark before the tired players staggered into the gymnasium.

A fairly early afternoon was given up to individual instruction and signal practice. The men ran through the plays happily, and the coaches scolded them pleasantly. All of the regulars were given work except Captain Glott and Elliott. The latter, who put up such a star performance against the Agricultural and Mechanical College, of North Carolina, in yesterday's scrimmage, Captain Glott is in good shape, but has been working hard in the line, and is now in the line. The half-back, who is now in the line, is a sturdy player, and will no doubt land on the varsity next season.

Getting the Fine Points.
Taylor and Thurlow alternated for Elliott at center, and Taylor substituted frequently this season, and rapidly learning the finer points of the game. Thurlow, the half-back, has been handicapped by a sprained ankle, which is now about well.

Stanton, the Californian, started out at quarter, and in the first half of the game he showed that he was a player in good shape. In the backfield were Neff, Goch, Yancey, Wilson, Frazier and Vetterlin, each taking a turn.

The scrimmage, which was not begun until after the sun had disappeared behind Old Mountain, lasted nearly a half-hour. In this time two touchdowns were made by the varsity, Goch making the first. The second came after the scrubs had been penalized fifteen yards for tackling Hunkler after he had signalled for a fair catch.

The scrubs eleven was strengthened by Murphy, guard on the varsity, and McConnell, a promising tackle. These players, with Thraves, considered by many the best all-round player in college, Chinnola, and former Tinker, also of Virginia, who played under the varsity, are rendering the team much aid. Graham had charge of the scrubs today, and his words checked many a well-directed play.

McDonald Johnson, last year's coach, looked after the backfield. The scrimmage over, Honaker and Stanton were drilled in catching punts.

RIDE DRAG OVER

WARRENTON, Va., November 10.—With thirty-five riders following the Warrenton hounds, another large drag was ridden this afternoon over a stiff course, starting at Bull Turn and finishing at General D. Williams place, Clovercroft. This is one of the largest drags that has taken place, and many notable riders were out, among whom were Mrs. D. H. Henry, of the Middlesex Hunt, of New York, on her mare, Chinnola, and former Tinker, also of New York, riding Brother Brown. Miss Tinker and Mrs. Henry are both horsewomen of the highest type, and Miss Tinker is famed for having driven four horses in one of the New York shows with as much ease and grace as though she were handling a single mount.

The run was a stiff one, with a number of high jumps. J. P. Evans, acting as master of the club, hunted the hounds, and Mr. C. H. Smith rode as whip. A large number of people from town went out to see the drag, and after the run Miss Lucy Stone gave a large hunt breakfast to the riders. Those finishing well up with the hounds, and their mounts, were as follows: Mrs. J. K. Maddux, on Gray Cap; Mrs. E. A. B. Fortman, on The Dragon; Mr. John P. Stone, on Charlydis; W. S. Sowers, on Justice; J. K. Maddux, on

HARE AND HOUNDS

Chase Will Be Event of Week in Athletics at University.
CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va., November 10.—An interesting event in athletic circles at the University of Virginia this week will be the hare and hound chase, to be held Thursday afternoon, under the auspices of the Cross Country Club at that institution. The run will be over an eight-mile course. The hare, Messrs. Roberts and Carr, will start five minutes ahead of the hounds, and will carry bags of fine-cut paper, with which they will leave a trail that may be followed by the hounds. The hounds will be under the charge of Captain Davis, of the Cross Country Club. A half-minute after the hare starts, the hounds will start. The weather, gymnasium, on a home stretch, the hares will drop different colored paper, and then break for home at full speed, without leaving any further trail. The hounds, under the whipper-in, will keep together until the hare-colored paper is reached, when they, too, will run for home and endeavor to overtake the hares.

This sport is a favorite pastime in England, as well as in the North. Frequently every college physically able to participate in the chase, and more often than not, the chase is accompanied by the teachers. This is probably the reason why England has so many fast distance runners, as this is kept up from year to year.

Thursday's chase is open to all, and it is expected that fifty fifty men will participate. The hare will leave the gymnasium at 4:30, and the hounds later they will be followed by the hounds.

Beautiful Trophies.PRINCETON, N. J., November 10.—The annual fall Carnegie regatta will be held on Carnegie Lake on Friday afternoon, November 13, at 2 o'clock, on Saturday, November 14th, as was previously but unauthorizedly announced. The change was due to the fact that the faculty refused to dismiss recitations and lectures for Saturday morning.
Representatives of leagues in classes C and D met today, and it is understood that an effort will be made by some of the class C leagues which are striving for the change of grade as the Texas League and the Western Association.
The meeting of the national association is expected to be waged by the American Association and the Western League from class A.
More than fifty players of the Milwaukee Braves, of the National League, were to-day placed upon the ineligible list by the National Board of Arbitration. They were alleged to have defied the rules of the agreement by engaging in post-season games with "outlaw" clubs. No fines were meted out, but before signing contracts for next season the players are required to be reinstated. Then their punishment will be decided on by Secretary Farrell.

The program next Friday will consist of two events. At 3 o'clock the one-mile race for class four-oared crews for the Daggett Memorial Cup will be held. The race will be held on the lake, and the principal event, the inter-lake eight-oared race of two miles will be held on the lake. A PECK SLIP, NEW YORK.MARKED RIVALRY
OF EXHIBITORSKeen Competition from Many Parts of Country at Horse
Show.(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
NEW YORK, November 10.—There is this year a very marked rivalry at the horse show between the exhibitors from different parts of the country. There is one man, John W. Conditine, who belongs in Seattle, Wash., and who is an exhibitor in several classes, showing among other pairs Quaker Maid and Quaker Boss. Julian C. Kelly, of Watlington, Va., has a Cox, of Toronto, Allen, Archibald, of Montreal, and F. Ambrose Clark, of the well-known gentleman rider, are among outsiders to make entries.
Wonder will never be won in a class of little ponies there appeared not only a little stallion from Norway, but also a little hero from Chicago Island, of the Eastern Shore of Maryland. A Norwegian, a sorrel with a black stripe throughout its entire body, so pleased the judges that it won a fourth award, but the native pony of Currituck Sound was quite ignored.The hackney day this morning, but the imported horse seems to have fallen into disfavor this year. In some of the classes there were only two exhibits, and competition was nothing like it used to be when Dr. Webb, Mr. Fairfax, Eben De Jordan, Thomas Lawson, A. J. Cassatt and others favored the English hackney.
Among those present to-day were F. Ambrose Clark, R. Penn Smith, Edward T. Stotesbury, E. M. Thorne, and Julian C. Kelly, of Watlington, Va.

When the bugle blew for the opening of to-night's exhibit the tier of boxes, which is held almost exclusively by leaders of society, presented a brilliant spectacle. Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt gave an exhibition of driving in the late afternoon contests for blue ribbons that thrilled the spectators. He had his famous four-in-hand team, Polly Prim, Dorothy, Hamlet and Hester, entered against teams exhibited by Paul A. Sorg, the Fairmont Farms and George Watson.

Nearly a Runaway.
As Mr. Vanderbilt drove his princely team to the south gate, and the hub of his drag crashed against the woodwork, frightening the spirited animals. To add to the confusion, the horses became disordered, and the harness was quickly tangled up in it.
It looked for a moment as though there would be a runaway, but Mr. Vanderbilt quickly straightened out the tangle. The accident won Mr. Vanderbilt the admiration of the spectators, and those standing at the ring-side implored the judges to bestow the blue ribbon on the young millionaire for his display of pluck. But this was not to be. The best Mr. Vanderbilt could win was second place, behind C. W. Watson's Fairmont Farm team, driven by Frank Winterbottom, and consisting of Lord Baltimore, My Maryland, Virginia and Lady Baltimore.

Reginald Vanderbilt was also a prize-winner at the afternoon exhibit, but he, like his brother, was only able to capture a second. It was in the class for teams for pairs of mares or geldings 50 per cent, harness and 50 per cent, single harness, that he won. He drove his team, Lord Burleigh and Lord Brock, entered, but he did not drive, Sidney Bowen holding the reins. My Maryland and My Maryland II, owned by C. W. Watson's Fairmont farms, and driven by Henry Wadsworth, got first prize in this class.

There were so many classes, and the entry lists were so heavy, that judging extended nearly until midnight. The interesting feature of the night was the judging of hunters and ladies' saddle horses.

Likely Criticism.

NEW YORK, November 10.—Addressing a popular meeting at 10th Avenue, New York, last night, in aid of the Presbyterian mission in this city, Wu Ting Fang, Chinese minister to the United States, gave his cordial endorsement to what he called "the endeavors of the Chinese people in aid of the world's betterment." In particular, the educational features of the mission were commended by the speaker.

Mr. Wu prefaced his remarks by saying he had received a letter from an American gentleman strongly urging him, because of his official position, not to speak, because he (Mr. Wu) might be condemned.

"I was surprised to have this advice come from an American," said the minister. "My action in coming here to-night may be liable to adverse criticism. I do not care. I do what I consider to be what is right. I am here to look after my own countrymen, and I am assisted not only from my own country and from your country, but from your people."

Keynote Is Service.
The keynote of the twentieth century, whether the Oriental or the Occidental, is "service," Ambassador Wu said at the outset of his address, and he added: "There is a widespread sentiment and eagerness to help and serve one's fellowmen, although they may be only strangers within our grasp."

It is often only the victim of circumstances and environments. Place him in good and manly, the contrary, and he becomes vicious. Practical moralists realize this, and we see institutions around us

CHINESE COLONY UP IN ARMS
OVER ATTACK ON YET SINGOnly Ten Celestials Now in Richmond, All From Canton and All Kin to Yet, Victim of Hatchet—Uncle
Mow Woo Says, "Me Awful Mad."Yet Sing, Chinese laundryman, of No. 8 South Seventh Street, whose head was crushed Saturday night by a negro who entered his shop, was removed last night from the City Hospital to the home of his uncle, Mow Woo, No. 1717 East Main Street. Yet is still suffering from the crack in his skull, but physicians say he will survive his injuries.
"Chinese man on hurt nigger," said Mow Woo last night. "We peaceful men. No hurt anybody. Black man had and do anything. Yet his right, he do no harm. Nigger come in, ask no questions, strike him over head. We awful mad."The assault on Yet Sing served to arouse his fellow Celestials in Richmond, and since his confinement in the City Home there is not one of his race here who has not called to ask about his condition. Mow Woo, the uncle, is the oldest Chinaman in Richmond, and his word is law.
Yet Sing's misfortune brought forth a bit of history relative to the Chinese colony here. The Orientals are all representatives of the Canton faction, the Pekins having been expelled long ago. It is said that the Pekins cannot live in the same atmosphere with their Canton rivals, and in allStates one or the other gradually gains the ascendancy.
Only Ten Chinamen Here.
Of the forty-eight Chinamen who ten years ago did business in Richmond only ten remain, and all these are relatives of Yet Sing, the victim of the negro who is now in the City Jail, the occupants of the Celestials were formerly divided between pop-over-cracker sellers, curio gatherers and laundrymen. The laundrymen now do all the business.

The names of the Chinamen now living here are: Hock Way, No. 1115 East Franklin Street; Yet Sing, No. 8 South Seventh Street; Charlie Woo, South, Seventeenth Street; Him Lee, Church Hill Avenue; Men Ying, No. 2411 East Main Street; Sam Lee, 2411 East Main Street; Mow Woo, No. 1717 East Main Street; Hock Way, No. 2113 East Broad Street; and Charlie Woo, 2510 East Broad Street. Lee King holds forth at No. 612 Hill Street, Manchester.

James Cunningham, of New York, keeper of the chop suey place at Fourteenth and Broad Streets, is perhaps the only Englishman here who understands the Chinese language. He has been in the city for fourteen years. He is, in appearance, much like a Chinaman himself, and often dresses in their fashion just to please them.

The endeavor of the good people in this city to provide a better education for the Chinese, especially the younger generation, is serving of all assistance and indorsement. Doing Excellent Work.
"I have visited the establishment under the charge of Mr. H. H. Rule, and have made inquiries from different sources of the nature and character of the work, and I find that they are doing excellent work."

"You have practically carried out the idea of the Chinese, which is to have no distinction of classes or races. All are entitled to the best that we can give them, morally, intellectually and physically. I am gratified to find that this mission has established a school for the education of our countrymen. Any educational institution established for the purpose of giving instruction and raising the character of the Chinese, and elevating their character is worthy of our support, and I take it that this mission has such a mission, and will do good for my countrymen and good for the city."

"I hold that any religion is good as long as it is based on virtue and its aim is to teach people to practice virtue and morality. When men are engaged in educational work, and are endeavoring to improve the morals of the people, whether it is done by Catholics, Protestants, Jews, Confucians, Buddhists, or any other religion, as all sensible men, irrespective of their creed, in my humble opinion, should give it their support."

THEY WILL ARBITRATE.

Casablanca Incident Will Be Settled
Without Further Trouble.PARIS, November 10.—The question that has arisen between France and Germany over what has come to be known as the Casablanca incident, arising out of the arrest by the French authorities of German deserters from the French foreign legion, will be referred to a panel of arbitrators. The French ambassador at Berlin, and Baron von Weichers, the German acting secretary for foreign affairs, have agreed to a settlement of the matter in dispute.
The official text of the agreement sets forth that after an exchange of expressions of regret that the incident occurred, the French government and the German government have agreed to refer the matter to a panel of arbitrators. The selection of the court being left to the arbitrators.The agreement also provides that the country whose agents are adjudged at fault shall make an apology to the other.

Colored Man Is Given Reprieve Until 4th of December.

SALISBURY, N. C., November 10.—Sam Massey, colored, condemned to be hanged in Salisbury on Friday of this week for a criminal assault upon a colored woman here several months ago, was to-day granted a reprieve by Governor Glenn. A telegram received from the Governor, dated November 10, said that the Governor had granted a reprieve until December 4th. A strong petition, signed by members of the bar and the local judge, has been sent to Governor Glenn, asking for a commutation of the death sentence to one of life imprisonment, which it is believed, will be granted.
